

Reference: Brent Hancock

Brent Hancock worked as a carpenter and site supervisor on a major house renovation and construction which we undertook in Fremantle during 2007 and 2008. Brent is a highly skilled tradesman on site. He is a very intelligent worker who worked well with us, understood our requirements and was able to analyse difficult problems and come up with creative and beautiful solutions. His workmanship meets a very high standard and he was rarely troubled by the trials and tribulations of renovating an old house for demanding clients. Our day to day interactions with Brent were always a pleasure and we have re-engaged him on several occasions to do further work at our now lovely house.
